

that we must do it
sometimes in our lives
but I will always follow you lovingly as far as I may and wait until you come back to me again. Nobody loves you better than I do except that one whom you wish to love you
best. and whatever you will take from

I liked so much the editorial in the Herald sent to me

a lovely
dark green
note book & pocket
book
together

Dear home I have just read your two letters, and I long to go to you and to hold you close and fast & make you see how deeply I love you and to drive away something of your sad loneliness. You are tired my darling; I keep telling you that over and over. I can't bear to have you say these

1882

Tuesday evening

things, or what is far worse feel them when you know how I love you
and think of you and am living for you so much of my time. Oh
Dear Darling, would you remember all this and let it give you
a little comfort, and in whatever sadness
and trouble may come never push

the thought of me away as not being part of it ~~and~~ having to do with it. I believe I belong to you as much as one can belong to another but when you

grow very fond you
go away from me into the shadows all alone.
I suppose God means that we shall do